Rhythm of Care

Medication errors and infection prevention are two of the greatest challenges facing the medical industry. Safer, more efficient healthcare is a top priority for everyone. And CareFusion wants to help. That is why we are partnering with nonprofit safety organizations and leading technology companies to create Rhythm of Care and the Rhythm of Care Safety Coalition.

We believe the rhythm, harmony and improvisation of an ensemble cast results in the best performance. Rhythm of Care is based on this premise and brings together people from all facets of healthcare, offering a positive approach to medical safety that:

- Emphasizes the positive strides being made
- Promotes best practices, products and services
- Creates an open, centralized repository of discoveries that anyone can access

Together, CareFusion and our coalition partners will identify and honor those who are pioneering new ways to improve safety, and then share these ideas with others so everyone can benefit.

About the Jazz Festival Series

CareFusion is committed to developing technologies that help improve medication safety and prevent healthcare-acquired infections. We are equally committed to raising awareness and emphasizing positive change — that is why we created the CareFusion Jazz Festival Series.

There is a clear connection between jazz and medicine. Music is medicine and has the power to heal. Medical care and music are also fundamentally human, driven and forever changed by the interaction between caregiver and patient, musician and listener. The CareFusion Jazz Festival Series taps the human and healing elements of jazz to highlight healthcare safety and those working to improve care.

The festivals themselves are some of the largest and oldest jazz festivals in the world. And the musicians are simply brilliant. At every festival in the series, we will host multiple VIP events for caregivers and hospital administrators, giving them a chance to learn more about the Rhythm of Care and CareFusion while listening to legendary and up-and-coming jazz artists.

Come experience the healing power of music and help us increase awareness and raise funds for a cause
